The Kring 2003 conference will be held at the Tannishus Hotel, a holiday hotel built in 1896. The hotel is beautifully situated in the dunes only 200 metres from the North Sea and at one of the best beaches in Denmark.

The hotel will be our "base camp" during the conference. Dinners and lectures and, last but not least, the cosy hours in the bar - will take place at the hotel.

For more information, visit www.tannishus.dk.

Invitation

KRING ^{Denmark}
van Zeewerende Ingenieurs 2003

28. - 30. september

Welcome to Kring 2003

Dear colleague,

I am very pleased to invite you to the Kring 2003 conference in Denmark from 28 to 30 September 2003.

Kystdirektoratet, the Danish Coastal Authority, is the organiser and host of this year meeting of Kring van Zeewerende Ingenieurs, and we wish to show you how we handle coastal protection and coastal zone management in the northern part of Denmark.

At Skagen, which is the northernmost part of Denmark where the two seas the Skagerak and the Kattegat meet, we will inspect different types of coastal protection measures and we will also have time to experience the atmosphere in the idyllic town Skagen.

At the port of Hirtshals, which is one of the largest fishing ports in Denmark, the Danish Coastal Authority is currently rebuilding one of the outer jetties for about € 6 mill. In September, Kring participants will have opportunity to see this technically demanding work in the final phase.

At the moment we are preparing captivating lectures for you as a supplement to the excursions to the "top of Denmark".

One of the most important elements of the Kring conference is that it is an informal and social event. The schedule and the setting therefore give the participants time and opportunity to chat with new and old colleagues to exchange experience and discuss new ideas.

I look forward to welcoming you to the Kring 2003 conference in September.

Jesper Holt Jensen
Director, Danish Coastal Authority
